A NATION'S HEALTH

The new Health Society, now being formed in England for the purpose of educating the public in the fundamental laws of health, has for its motto "A Nation's Health is a Nation's Wealth."

The Medical Research Committee of the society comprises the most distinguished authorities on sun, shine, air, water, right food and proper exercise, which are nature's sovereign remedies.

Writing in the Fortnightly Review, Sir Arbuthnot Lane, the famous physician, strongly endorses the scheme, and states that the loss of earnings in Great Britain through sickness amounts to the sum of $500,000,000 annually, while there is a still further loss of an equal amount due to impaired efficiency.

All other forms of taxation fall into insignificance when compared with the enormous drain on the economic resources of the country directly due to ill-health and disease. We boast of the advancement of civilization, but there never was a time when the essential rules of health were more generally violated.

Sir Arbuthnot attributes the cause of our physical ailments to the over-refinement of civilization. Most of our food is too highly refined; cereals are stripped of the outer skin and germ which contain the vitamins absolutely necessary to health, and these, the most valuable part, are fed to domestic animals, who flourish exceedingly, while pale-faced men and women wonder why they are listless and depressed.

The society aims to establish branches throughout Great Britain, and by means of books, lectures and radio will endeavor to teach the people that national health can only be achieved by an accomplished fact when dietary laws are observed. Most of our serious diseases begin with indigestion and constipation, and these can only be avoided by adopting a rational diet in which the constituent elements are balanced, and not in chemical conflict.

To rescue suffering humanity from the slough of despondency and to teach the rising generation to avoid the same pitiable plight is the objective of the New Health Society.

ACCIDENTS AND EYES

One of the greatest contributing factors to automobile accidents is poor eyesight, and until an optical examination is made compulsory for all applicants for driver's licenses, the number of those accidents is not likely to be decreased.

If one or both eyes of a driver have a low visual perception, there is great danger, particularly at intersections, because of such driver's inability to see and at the same time judge correctly either the speed or the distance of an approaching car.

Optometrists in Vancouver have examined the eyes of hundreds of men and women who were so short-sighted that it would be impossible for them to see a car 100 yards off as more than a blur. Yet, without glasses, dozens of these people had been driving cars for years. And scores today are still driving cars in that condition.

No engineer whose eyes are not normal with or without glasses is permitted to control a passenger or even a freight train. Why then, should drivers of high-powered cars be permitted to endanger the lives of others and themselves when a quick examination would determine the extent and quality of their vision.

A five-minute examination at the time of application for the driver's or annual license would eliminate this menace to the safety of the streets.

DUSTING OFF THE THRONES

Little Prince Otto of Austria and bigger Prince Wilhelm of Prussia are polishing up their scepters and dusting off their thrones. For the royal houses of both these countries confidently expect that a few years more will see them restored to sovereign power.

In all the plots and schemes that come out of Prussia and Austria there is much talk of divine rights, not a word about the rights of the people.

There pretenders intend to seize their thrones, not for the good of their countries, but because they believe those thrones belong to them.

It is a hopeless and valiant fight against the evolution of ideas. "Divine rights" are a thing of the past. Even the idea that nature owes a debt of some kind to everybody is going by the board. The world is coming to see that man can rightfully claim nothing that he does not work for.

With North America working toward industrial democracy, the contrasting fight of the Hapsburgs and Hohenzollerns to restore absolute monarchy seems all the more pitiful and futile.

THE PAPER AGE

It is the paper age. A single newspaper in New York announces that it will use 118,000,000 pounds of paper this year. That is more paper than had been used in the whole history of the world, for all purposes, when Napoleon Bonaparte was born.

And yet, there had been paper enough to write and print most of the great literature of thought and imagination that the human race has produced.

In certain things, in science and machinery, the last two hundred years have done more than all their predecessors. But not in the things that are printed on paper. In these, several ages were greater than ours. In sheer quantity, one newspaper, and that not the wisest or the best, uses more paper in one year than all the previous ages of mankind. If we could multiply intelligence as fast as we do the means of informing it, the superman would arrive next week.

SEED BUYERS PROTECTED BY THE GRADE SYSTEM

Judging from the high regard in which Canadian seed control work and standards are held in other countries our system of conducting the commerce of seeds on a basis of legal grades has proved its soundness. The fundamental principle of the system is that the quality of seed sold must conform to definitions prescribed by law. In his report for 1925 the Dominion Seed Commission points out that our grades are based primarily on the general quality and purity of the seed determined by its freedom from noxious and useless weed seeds, and its percentage of pure living seeds. The general appearance of the seed as influenced by weather or seasonal conditions, cleaning, maturity and disease is also taken into consideration. Cereals, grasses, sweet clover, field corn and all other forage and fodder crops seeds have been brought under this compulsory grading system, and all grading is done by the qualified official inspectors of the seed branch.

SCOTCH WHISKY

Try a Bottle & Make a New Friend

"SANDY MACDONALD" is one of Scotland's rare old Whiskies. Once you taste it you'll know how "Soft," mellow and stimulating Scotland's best really is.

For many generations "Sandy Mac" as it is usually called, has been known all over Scotland—pretty well all over the world too—as a whisky that never varies in its high quality and reaches a degree of purity and "delicacy" of flavor that is as unusual as it is satisfying.

Drink "Sandy Mac" yourself and put it before your friends who know what is good.

able characters. Imagine bewitching little Betty Bronson as a pathetic, lonely, half-starved slave of the London slums, dreaming of the day when a handsome fairy Prince will pick her out as his Princess! No wonder the artist in whose studio she dusts and shines names her Cinderella! But dreams sometimes come true, though the fairy Prince turns out to be a policeman!

In between the two extremes of fantasy and reality are incidents that tug at the heart-strings, episodes that provoke chuckles and smiles, and scenes that range from the London slums to a magnificent dream ball.

The Pen that Convinced the World

The history of the fountain pen is very like that of the telephone, the telegraph, the radio and a host of other present-day conveniences.

Fifty years ago no one thought a satisfactory fountain pen would ever be an accomplished fact. Scores of pens had been invented, but not one of them would write properly. They only worked at times; the ink flow could not be controlled.

But in 1861 came Waterman's Ideal—the perfect pen—one that would always write properly, one that would not leak, one that would meet the peculiar requirements of every man's hand.

From a beginning of 200 pens in a year—made by hand—Waterman's has developed into a great industry. Today there are millions of Waterman's Ideals in service in all parts of the world.

Quality

The most urgent requirement in Canada's Agricultural Products

CANADA produces every year large quantities of wheat, oats, barley, butter, cheese, beef, eggs, apples, potatoes, grass seed and clover seed that she cannot consume. Her natural outlet for these products is, of course, Great Britain—the one great consuming country of the world with an open market.

Unfortunately, nearly every other country with any surplus of food products seems to want to send its surplus to this same market.

The keenness of the competition on this, our only market, and the energy and resourcefulness of our competitors began to impress themselves upon the Department of Agriculture some time ago, but it is only within very recent years that the real and only way to grapple with this problem has been discovered, or at least put into effect. This Department now believes, as do also most of the farmers of this country, that "grading" of our agricultural products is the policy and practice that is seeing us through the struggle and will assure us of our rightful place on the British market.

"Grading" means the classifying of products, whether they be hogs, butter, cheese, eggs or anything else, into what might be called in a general way "BEST," "GOOD," "FAIR" and "POOR" classes.

These exact words are not used in describing the grades, but that is what is meant. The purpose served in grading is threefold—

(1) Educational. When the producer sees the relative quality of his product he is spurred on to maintain that quality if it is the "best" or to improve the quality where necessary.

(2) Fair Play. When products are not graded the inferior article for various reasons often brings as much as the superior article, and the credit and advantage of putting the superior product on the market is lost to the one who really deserves it.

(3) Facilitating Trade. The dealer learns to have confidence in the article he is buying and buys more freely, because it is guaranteed by grading, and gradually everybody gets to know what the "best" article really looks like or tastes like. In short, grading brings about standardization and ensures to the producer the best price.

Canada now grades her cereals, grass seeds, hay, potatoes, apples, eggs, butter, cheese, wool and bacon hogs. The results have been in every case beneficial and in some cases quite markedly so, even though the grading system has been in effect in some cases for only two or three years, thus—

Cheese—Grading began April 1st, 1923. Canadian cheese the year before had fallen into such disrepute on the British market that New Zealand cheese was quite commonly preferred. Today Canadian cheese commands cents per pound higher than New Zealand.

Butter—Grading began same time as for cheese. The reputation of our butter was then indeed at low ebb. Canadian butter today, while not the best on the market, is rapidly improving in quality and gaining in reputation.

Hogs—Over two years ago the Department of Agriculture began to grade live hogs at the packing houses and stock yards. The 10% premium paid by the packers for "select" bacon hogs as against "thick smooths" was classed by departmental graders as done wonders to improve the quality of our hogs and develop the bacon industry.

Best Canadian bacon, which ordinarily was quoted two years ago from 10 to 18 shillings a long hundredweight below Danish, has gradually grown in the estimation of the British wholesale buyer until it is now quoted at only from 1 or less to at most 5 or 6 shillings per long hundredweight below the best Danish.

This improvement in price is, of course, due to quality and has come about very gradually, the spread narrowing down by a shilling or two a month until now it is not at all a rare occurrence to see high Canadian selling on a par with the Danish article.

Eggs—Canada was the first country to grade and standardize. The grades and standards apply not only to export, interprovincial and import shipments, but also to domestic trading.

The basis is interior quality, cleanliness and weight. Standardizing Canadian eggs has created confidence between producer and consumer and between exporter and British importer, and has resulted in a greatly increased demand for the Canadian egg both at home and abroad.

Other products might be mentioned where grading has worked to the great advantage of the producer and to the advancement of Canadian agriculture. Already Great Britain recognizes our store cattle, wheat, cheese, eggs, apples and oats as the best she can buy.

It is for us to so improve our other products, particularly our butter and bacon, as to bring them also into this list of "the best on the British market" and consequently the highest priced.

Grading enabled us to do this for cheese, wheat, eggs and apples.

Grading is helping us to do it for butter and bacon.

Quality Counts

Quality is thus the first objective for the Canadian export trade, and then steady, regular supply. It is along these lines the Department of Agriculture is working by educational methods, and the result of this policy is seen in the growing volume of Canada's agricultural exports. Look at these figures:

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL NEWS

H. Latham Collins, of Calgary, Miss McCorkindale and Rev. Mr. was a business visitor in Macleod, Kelley.

Slim McLean and "Swede" Hanson, of Waterton Lakes, were Macleod visitors this week en route for Denver, Colorado.

R. A. Clement, of the Rexall Store, left on Monday of this week for Colgate, Sask., where he is visiting his parents.

Mrs. Lillian Backus returned on Monday from Edmonton where she spent the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sheer.

J. Pisko, of Lethbridge, who was a member of Macleod's Amateur Baseball Team Champions in 1925, was a Macleod visitor today (Thursday).

Mrs. E. P. Pittard, of Edmonton, accompanied by Master Dan and Miss Constance, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Folland over the Christmas holidays.

Mrs. (Dr.) Robert Elder and Mr. T. Wagstaff had a narrow escape from death by asphyxiation at the Elder residence when a natural gas pipe developed a leak on New Year's eve. Both were seriously affected. Mr. Wagstaff was the most on account of having been a gas victim during the war. Prompt medical attention was given, resulting in the resuscitation of the victims of the accident.

At the Quarterly Communion Service held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Lethbridge, on Sunday last—the session received forty-eight new members, twenty-three of whom had voted for union in Knox church. These united with St. Andrews' by certificate from Knox United Church, and twenty-five were received on profession of faith.

The Box Social given by the Brotherhood of the United Church on Wednesday night of this week in the Odd Fellows' Hall was a decided success. The boxes sold for a fair price and the big crowd in attendance enjoyed the program immensely. The capital prize for the box bringing the highest bid went to Mrs. Wetherup; the prize for the best decorated box was won by Miss Laycock and Mrs. Ades. A miniature ship carried off the prize for the most original box.

St. Andrew's Young People's Society held its weekly meeting at the manse on Monday evening, January 4th. The Society was favored with the presence of Rev. W. E. Kelley, of St. Andrews' Presbyterian Church, Lethbridge. Mr. Kelley gave an interesting talk on "Young People and Their Relationship to the Church." During the evening Miss McCorkindale, representative of the W.C.T.U., from Australia, gave a very interesting address on her tour and work. Miss McCorkindale is an interesting speaker, and her visit was greatly appreciated by the young people. Games and a pleasant social hour were indulged in, and refreshments were served. A hearty vote of thanks was given.

CHARLES MURPHY, SECRETARY OF STATE, RE MOVING OBSTRUCTIONS TO CORPORATE BUSINESS.

In his capacity as Acting Secretary of State, Hon. Charles Murphy has issued a statement bearing on Canadian Trade which contains an interesting suggestion designed to remove some of the obstructions with which corporate business has been met throughout the Dominion. The statement follows:—

"It must be gratifying to all citizens who take an interest in Canadian Trade to read the optimistic reports of Bank Managers and others that have recently been published, as well as the statements made by prominent merchants throughout the country regarding an improvement in trade.

"While it is a fact that success in any business must depend upon individual initiative and application to work, it is equally a fact that such individual effort may be assisted or retarded by legislation bearing on trade. This fact has been specially brought home to me during the past couple of months while acting as Secretary of State of Canada, and in that capacity observing the operations of the Companies Act.

"A short investigation of the company situation, as revealed by the workings of the Companies Branch of the Department of the Secretary of State, indicates that there is an obstruction to business which raises an important question for discussion. "The incorporated company is the vehicle of modern business. Any restrictive action which hampers or casts doubt upon the ordinary business methods of companies is bound to have a detrimental effect on the business situation generally. In Canada we have ten authorities incorporating companies, namely nine Provinces and one Dominion. The result is conflicting and doubtful legislation, and a situation that disturbs the public and retards the flow of business in natural channels.

"Fifteen years ago an attempt was made, through a conference of the Dominion and the Provinces, to solve difficulties of the same character that then existed. At that time, however, it was considered advisable that a preliminary clarification might be brought about by judiments of the courts upon the constitutional questions that were raised. The litigation which ensued instead of solving the difficulties as they then appeared created new ones and rendered the state of things still more doubtful. Moreover this litigation has clearly shown that the situation cannot be cleared up through further recourse to the Courts. There appears to be no practical solution except through a round-table conference between the Dominion and the Provinces. This round-table conference between the sphere of compromise, and its only aim should be to improve conditions by creating greater certainty in corporate activity.

"It appears to me advisable that in the interests of Canadian business a conference should be held at an early date as possible, and as a step in that direction the views of the Provinces will be ascertained without delay."

REACH & COMPANY, Ltd.

GENERAL MERCHANTS—GROCERIES, FRUITS AND VEGETABLES, BOOTS, SHOES AND CLOTHING.

We are in the midst of Stock Taking, all work and no play. We sold a new fabric to be made up from Butterick's French patterns. After it was finished, the daughter asked her father what he thought of her new dress. Father (dryly) well I would advise you to carry a larger fan. Spring will soon be here and will be asking father nature what her new dress will look like. He will answer "take no thought for tomorrow. I'll clothe you in garments suitable to my temperamental visitations, only don't put on Silk Hosiery till I tell you."

STOCKTAKING—Will take up all our spare time and any thing that has been a poor seller will be sacrificed. We told you before about our getting out of Men and Boys Clothing. The over coats are large size and will pay to cut off and make up for the boys. Mackinaws are cheap at Cost. Sweaters for Ladies, Misses and youngsters—Every day a fresh display of Bargains will meet your eye. Self arresting and cash compelling the pocket books to loosen up.

BOOTS AND SHOES—Now if you see a shoe and it is not just exactly the style you want, if the price is cut below cost, and it is fashionable, you are a fool if you don't buy. He has got to be a smart guy who meets you on the street and after a cursory glance can go home and give wife an understandable description how you looked.
